

Flt.-Sgt. Harold Wilson Reported Missing After Air Bombing Operations

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wilson, Bond Head, Notified Son Missing—Older Son Recent Wounded Casualty

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wilson, of Bond Head, have been notified by Ottawa that their second son, Flt.-Sgt. Harold (Chub) Wilson, is missing after air operations over enemy territory. The entire crew of his craft failed to return and as yet there is no information regarding their fate, although authorities assure the parents that information is being sought through the Red Cross regarding them.

Sgt. Wilson joined the Air Force on March 19, 1943, and received his training at Montreal, Quebec City and Mont Joli, graduating from the latter in September of last year. He went overseas during the first week of October and since Christmas had been taking part in regular air operations.

Recent letters from Sgt. Wilson told of the regular receipt of cigarettes from the Bradford Canadian Corps and of The Witness. He also told in his last letter of visiting his mother's family, his grandmother, in Aberyswyth, Wales. In December he spent his 21st birthday with his mother's brother in Birmingham. A letter received by his little sister, Marie, last Thursday enclosed pictures of himself and his pilot.

"Chub" Wilson was born at Nobleton, the family moving to Bond Head about ten years ago, where he attended school and Trinity Anglican Church. For a year prior to enlistment Sgt. Wilson was employed with the Massey-Harris Co. at Weston.

His older brother, Jack, is serving in Italy. The latter was reported wounded on Christmas Day and then Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had long days of anxious waiting, now to be repeated with their second son. Jack Wilson has made a good recovery from his wounds and is now back in active service.

That their days of waiting for news of Harold may be rewarded with as happy news as they received about Jack is the hope of well wishers in this community to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.
