

Lou Wyman Appointed Comm. Centre Manager

The Board of Bradford District Memorial Community Centre announces the appointment of Mr. Lou. Wyman as manager of the Centre.

The management of both the community centre and the curling rink was found to be too much for one man. Art Turner remains in charge of refrigeration for both the community centre and the curling rink, and as manager of the curling rink.

The activity at both the community centre and the curling rink has exceeded expectations and it was early realized that the new manager had more to look after than was reasonable for one man. That such a very satisfactory arrangement has been made is gratifying to all concerned.

Art Turner, who is experienced in ice making, is an ideal appointment for refrigeration and with this he will be able to look after the curling rink.

Lou. Wyman is a capable business man and he is one of the Bradford residents who has put enough into the community centre to surely have tremendous interest in its welfare. Mr. Wyman freely gave his services to oversee the completion of the finishing details to get the building into operation last month.

In future those wishing to book reservations or make appointments of any kind regarding the community centre should contact Mr. Wyman.
